Access to this website is a privilege and not a right. It is expected that members of the “Rocket Community” adhere to this Code of Conduct when using the resource and interacting with administration and support staff or each other. Failure to adhere to the guidelines stated in this document could result in login access being terminated, either temporarily or permanently.

1. Funding and Maintenance of the Website

This website is funded and maintained through financial donations from V5 and V4 achievers in HyperFund of USD1000 and USD 500 respectively. These funds will be received and managed by RJS Captial and allocated to costs associated with website maintenance, administration and customer service.

Various benefits and incentives may be made available to contributors.

2. No Cross recruiting

This website has been created to for HyperFund and related topics only. We will not tolerate people who try to solicit or sell other products or recruit members for other projects from this website.

3. Interaction with website admin and the broader community

We expect that website members treat each other with respect and kindness. We will not tolerate verbal abuse or swearing in our community.

4. Constructive Feedback

We welcome all constructive suggestions of improvements we could make to the website, as we want you to have a great experience. Please communicate through the formal channels available on the Contact Us page or in the Q&A Section.

5. Community Projects

Excess income from donations will be used to fund various community projects, at the discretion of the owners and administrators of this website. Details of these projects will be available on the website.
